AIBL
SPIRIT OF SUCCESS.

American Indian Business Leaders (AIBL) is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization committed to supporting and promoting our future American Indian business leaders who will use their education and experience to ultimately assist in tribal economic development efforts.

AIBL is the only National American Indian non-profit organization dedicated to empowering business students in the United States.

AIBL was founded on four basic principles: (1) Education; (2) Experience; (3) Leadership; and (4) Culture.

AIBL empowers students to earn a quality education, gain valuable work experience through internships, and fosters personal and professional development through our program activities.

Since its inception, AIBL has had many tremendous accomplishments. Students have been inspired to achieve their dreams of success and have blossomed as leaders. Many are now serving as role models for their tribes and communities. Currently, AIBL services over fifty student-based chapters throughout the United States.

AIBL critically needs your generous giving to sustain the important work we've begun. When you contribute to AIBL, you invest in the future. To explore partnership opportunities with our program, please contact us:

NO COST VOCATIONAL TRAINING FOR PEOPLE AGES 16 THROUGH 24

Kicking Horse Job Corps is an option for young Native American adults who decide not to attend college or who have challenges learning in traditional high school settings.

Funded by the Department of Labor, the program is designed to help economically disadvantaged youth, ages 16 – 24, learn academic, vocational, and social skills necessary for success. We provide students with a safe place to live and learn, hands-on training, and the opportunity to earn their high school diploma and/or a GED at no cost. The upper age limit is waived with a verifiable disability.

Throughout the program, Job Corps personnel work with students to choose a trade and assist them with creating career development plans based on career goals. For one year after graduation, students receive assistance obtaining employment and support services needed to remain gainfully employed. This support gives the students the opportunity to focus on launching a career. Job Corps is there to help each and every student realize his or her potential.

For more information, go to <www.kickinghorsejobcorps.org> or <www.jobcorpsregion4.org>. Job Corps is an equal opportunity employer/program. Auxiliary aids and services available upon request to individuals with disabilities. ♦
